PRELIMINARY PROGRAMME

The Conference is followed by a Gala dinner evening at Petit Palais, the City of Paris' Museum of Fine Arts, to celebrate a century of Swedish companies in France and the Swedish-French friendship.

The gastronomic dinner will be conceived by a prominent Swedish chef and based on Swedish food raw materials.

The evening program includes:

- Centenary remarks and celebrations.

- Remittance of the Price of Excellency Award to the selected Swedish company in France, which has particularly distinguished itself for its human resource management, technical know-how and professional skills, implementation of French-Swedish synergies and cooperation in terms of quality standards, leadership, personnel handling, technical collaboration, initiatives and contributions to developments within the company group, and an exemplary performance.

- Remittance of the one-time special Centenary Excellency Award to the selected French Partner of the Centenary, which has contributed in an exceptional manner to the worldwide success of a Swedish company ensuing from a long term true partnership with an extensive exchange of know-how, teamwork in the technical area and sharing of expertise and strategies, resulting in common developments of products and services, improved design, safety and notably important energy savings, far above fixed environmental goals. Such exceptional partnership and the visions, leadership ability and personality of one of France's first and long time leading business women will be honoured.

- Dance performances from "Queen Christina of Sweden, the European", 300 years before the European Union was born, by artists from the BASE23 Stockholm Dance Academy. The Queen Christina project is a European cultural project based on cooperation between the Foundation Queen Christina, the European Culture Initiative and the Royal Festivals in Sweden, Austria Barock Akademie, Fondation Maison des Sciences de l'Homme in France and Teatro Lirico Sperimentale "A.Belli" in Italy.

Private tours will be offered before the dinner for a possibility to discover the permanent collections at Petit Palais and their rich settings (painted ceilings, beautiful ironworks, mosaics).

The participants at the Gala dinner include the speakers at the Centenary Conference and leading representatives from the economic, political, cultural and academic world, invited by the Swedish Chamber of Commerce in France and the by participating Swedish/French companies. The estimated number of guests is 300.

Conférencier of the evening: Wilhelm Stiernstedt, Chamberlain at the Royal Court of Sweden, Chairman of Alliance Française, Stockholm
